

Inheritance:

Python code:

```
inheritance
class Person:
    # Constructor method to initialize attributes
    def __init__(self, first_name, last_name, age, address, phone_number):
        # Initialize common attributes for all people
        self.first_name = first_name self.last_name = last_name self.age = age
        self.address = address self.phone_number = phone_number

inherit from Person class
class Staff(Person):
    # Constructor method to initialize attributes
    def __init__(self, first_name, last_name, age, address, phone_number, job_title, staff_id):
        # Call the constructor of the parent class (Person) to initialize
common attributes
        # using super function
        super().__init__(first_name, last_name, age, address, phone_number) # Initialize attributes specific to staff members
        self.job_title = job_title self.staff_id = staff_id
```